The P.T.A. of Beau City held an interesting meeting last Monday night. Mrs. Irene Jones, the president, presiding. Rev. Kenry, pastor of Union Baptist, and his wife were our guests. The business of painting the building before school closes was continued. A donation of $10 dollars was reported for the fund of which Mrs. L. Williams is captain. Deacon Williams said his secretary was painting the building. He said that the painting was done. Others are asked to help him when work begins after school Sunday in this month.

Thanks to the Morning Dove Quartet for giving the drive a boost. They gave a fine program of spirituals and each enjoyed them.

Union Baptist is running a revival meeting this week. The aim is to add more to the church. Come out and take service. The Morning Dove's sang for the opening night Monday and had a packed house.

School will begin practicing for closing this week. Parents are urged to keep their children in school that they may receive all the benefits offered there. Our principal, Mrs. Lee is using every effort to make this school year the best and wishes to thank every man, woman, and child who has helped to make our school better. Without this fine cooperation, little good could have been done.

Beau City Elementary School is presenting a beautiful Easter Pageant on Easter Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Each child in school and community is taking a part in the program. Mrs. Kenry will bring the Easter message. There will be special Easter music by the choir group trained by Mrs. Lee. By Mrs. M. P. Bessett

Before I begin writing about the parent of the month, I like to first answer a question that I was asked last week. A friend of mine wanted to know why I call this article "The Parent of the Month" when it appears weekly. Well, I usually would make a difference of opinion. It helps me to examine my own point of view. And, another fellow have his say, right or wrong, makes for democracy. I can take it even better than the wise ones. There is a kind of critic at whom my thinking just goes short the ultra type who, in the face of an existing evil goes far ahead of it and attacks those who are trying in a practical way to grapple with it. When I first began writing, I had decided to write about one parent each month, but after the first month, it occurred to me that by doing so it would take me a whole school year to write about just nine parents, therefore, I thought I would best to write about one each week and I could just go on and on. I have no need to change the title, no need to change the title, no need to change the title.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Lee, I am writing to you about the parent of the month. It is called the "Parent of the Month."

Last week, I was sitting on the porch talking to my friend.

lord, Mr. Alex Pyne and I found his conversation very interesting. I had been searching around looking for a parent to write about and I was about to pass him up. We discussed a good many things that I could write about, but I shall write about the one that was the most interesting to me. I asked him what was one of the sure ways to success, and here is his answer:

Some people think that a sure way to success is to have an influential family and friends who can open doors and smooth paths. Many people have offered many prescriptions for success ever since the world began and will probably continue to do so far into the future. Every parent and every youngster is looking for the surest road to success. It is the crowning achievement of every parent to have a successful child in some field of honest endeavor. It is the aim of his life to be successful and to win the rewards of life.

Well, my friend, I have been thinking about this for some time. I have been thinking about the many ways in which we can succeed. I have been thinking about the many ways in which we can fail. I have been thinking about the many ways in which we can live.

change from the stodgy classrooms. Mr. Carmen Salvatore, our Pahokee Board Member, and Mr. Ferguson were on hand, bright and early to survey the damage. According to their inspection, the building is in no further immediate danger. Further classes will therefore be resumed next week. Mr. Salvatore also indicated that "It's an ill wind that blows nobody any good." How about it, Mr. Jennot?

Senior Class Meeting

A meeting of the senior class called last Monday to select a speaker for commencement, to decide whether to have class night, and to collect money for the graduation invitations. Yes, the last days are here and its appears that they will be filled with plenty of activity for the eager seniors.

Tuesday the seniors got out of regular classes, but only to placement tests which proved to be much harder. They showed just how much has been forgotten or was never learned. Senior Girls Try For Stakeship Bernie Jean Pruitt, Jackie Berry, Beverly Greer, and Joan LaFila, along with several other students of Palm Beach County took tests at Central High in West Palm Beach Monday. These girls hope to be the lucky winners of the Lewis Scholarship. We all wish them luck!

"B" Club
The letterman met at a regular meeting Monday night. The meeting followed its ordinary procedure—quite a change from the initiation which was part of the last meeting!

The boys decided to make the annual party in honor of the seniors a trip to Fort Myers on April 21.

Band
By now, everyone knows that our Belle Glade High School Band raised first in drill concert, and sight reading at the district contest conducted at Lake Worth last Friday. Frederick Stevens, the soloist, also made a first. We're all really proud of them and hope they'll do as well when they go to the state contest in Miami on May 4, 5, and 6. They are looking forward to staying in one of the hotels on the Bayfront, and they will surely deserve it after all those early morning drills.

Bookkeeping Classes

Visit Palm Beach Bank
The two bookkeeping classes of Belle Glade High School took a day off from their arduous labors during a school day schedule March 29, to visit the First National Bank of Palm Beach. Mrs. Cherry drove the school bus and the thirty-two students and Miss Ledbetter, the Commercial teacher, received a warm reception when they parked the bus in the bank's parking lot which has ample space for two hundred cars.

Robert E. Conn, vice-president showed us through the bank. We first visited the auto teller's windows, which were in constant use, for the quick and easy depositing of checks, and obtaining payrolls without the necessity of the driver leaving his car. Mr. Conn showed us through the main lobby of the bank, the tellers' windows, the bookkeeping departments, the warehouse and the vault explaining every detail of the transaction performed in each department. We reclined in luxurious red leather chairs around the huge mahogany table of the director's room.

Later we were served cokes in the patio and our picture was taken. The bank is a beautiful building and uses the most up-to-date equipment to assist its seventy-eight employees. The color scheme used throughout the bank is red and framed maps of Florida written in every language and dating as far back as seventeen hundred hang on nearly every wall. These are the collection of the late president of the bank.

After observing every department in operation under the expert guidance of Mr. Conn, we went to Howard Johnson's for dinner and then came home. It was a most educational and enjoyable experience.

Assembly
The eighth grade presented "A Pageant of American History" in assembly Thursday. Their program was most appropriate on the one hundred and fiftieth birthday of Washington, D. C. A "Roll Call of the Years," from 1800 to 1950 gave some of the important events which have greatly affected our country's history during this past century and a half. Several musical selections were presented and skills demonstrated the various occurrences. Production of the program was under the direction of Mrs. Thelma, Miss Murphy and Miss Ledbetter.

East-West Vacation
This is quite an extended Saturday and Sunday are all ours to celebrate the Easter holiday. Everyone have a good time.

For the Florida exhibitors, the March 22-24 event was their first test against Western competition.

Total sale average was $903.97, with bulls averaging $908.33 and females averaging $897.90.

Biggest buyer was W. C. Champion and Son of Orlando, who purchased a bull at $1800 and four females for $3360. J. L. K. Stuart, Bartow, and J. L. caused severe price fluctuations in Florida's commodities. The basic cause was named as unusually heavy imports arriving simultaneously with Florida's peak production.

The purpose of the conference is to discuss a coordination of marketing that might insure a continuous supply of fresh vegetables but avoid oversupply at certain times, followed by acute shortages, Graw explained.

Chandler said, "We are seeking some basis for adjustment of this situation and we shall leave no stone unturned in our efforts to successfully cope with this problem."

Last week Graw conferred with Texas and California producer representatives and earlier testified before the Senate Agriculture Committee in favor of the Magnuson Amendment to the Commodity Credit Act which would transfer jurisdiction over certain imports from the U. S. Tariff Commission to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Graw said that imports of tomatoes, cucumbers, eggplant, peppers and other commodities from both Mexico and Cuba have been unusually heavy this season, and have had a serious effect on the prices of the Florida products.

Telephone Wages Are Way Ahead of the Cost of Living

Eight General Increases in the Last Ten Years Have Boosted Wage Rates 117% While Living Costs Have Increased About 73%. Any Further Increase in Wages Would Have to be Paid by Telephone Customers

Telephone employees, like everyone else, have faced a steep increase in the cost of living during the last ten years. What about telephone wages—have they kept up?

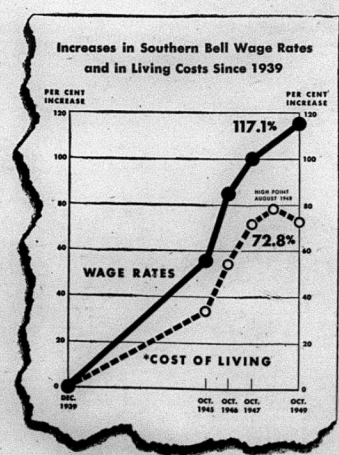

As the chart clearly shows, telephone wages have more than kept pace—leaving a substantial margin in our employees' favor. Telephone wage rates have been increased 117 per cent since 1939 compared with an increase of about 73 per cent in the cost of living for Southern cities.

Southern Bell employees have received eight general wage increases in the last ten years. In addition, they regularly receive automatic "progression" raises according to a schedule which begins the day they start work and continues with frequent increases until they reach top pay for their respective jobs.

During the next twelve months, 3 out of 4 Southern Bell employees will receive at least one such automatic increase. Many will get two and three.

Today, as always, Southern Bell people receive wages which compare favorably with those paid by other concerns in the community for comparable skills and experience. Can you think of any yardstick fairer than that?

Add to good wages the assurance of year-round employment, liberal sickness, accident and death benefits, and a pension plan that is among the best in all industry, and you can readily see that telephone employees are doing all right.

STATE BOND

quoting will be announced later. Explaining the purpose of the drive, State Chairman Northcutt said: "I think all of us realize the benefits of saving regularly for our own good. However, individual saving helps all of us—Community and the nation. Savings in any form serve as a stabilizing force for business and industry—and that means steady jobs and full employment, which helps everybody."

"And there are important benefits from saving that can't be measured in dollars. Saving is self-discipline. It builds up moral fiber, as well as economic strength. And in the tough world that we live in, we are going to need all the moral and economic strength we can muster, to survive. Self-indulgence and soft living are not going to help us for the tests of strength and staying power that lie ahead of us. Our hope of avoiding another war rests mainly upon the strength of purpose that we Americans can show the world, as much as on the military defenses that we set up to discourage aggressors."

"The habit of thrift is a sure way to show that we are not a self-indulgent and soft people in a hard world."

"The slogan of this bond drive is: 'Save for Your Independence.' Buy U. S. Savings Bonds. And you can read that two ways. One way is the personal way: by regular saving you build up income not only for financial security for yourself and your family, not only to accumulate the money you need to better yourself and your children, but also to help your self toward financial independence when your working days are over."

"But there is a broader and deeper meaning. Through thrift, you help to save our national independence, our system of self-reliance, self-reliance, and individual enterprise against those who would destroy these things we live by. Regular saving helps to build up our moral muscles, as well as our economic strength, individually and nationally."

"I think this independence theme is very timely. The question of providing for old age has been very much in the public mind recently—pensions in private business and industry, as well as broadening and increasing social security coverage. Too many of us have no such protection, and too many of those who have, will not have enough to make us independent. By putting away part of our earnings regularly, we can build up monthly income to supplement social security or pensions so we can be independent of relatives or public assistance or charity. It is not possible for everyone to attain, but it is possible for many more Americans than are now saving to provide it for themselves."

"More Americans are saving more than we ever saved before. Our bond savings have increased over $5 one-half billion of it is in the Series E Bonds that most of us buy and hold. Our bond savings have increased over $5 one-half billion since the war's end—E Bonds alone have increased over $4 billion."

"That speaks very well for the Savings Bonds program, and the thirty Americans who take advantage of it. Upwards of $8 million of us are saving something each payday through the Payroll Savings where we work—the average saving is about $20 a month, and it mounts up fast. Others are using the free service of the Bond-a-Month plan where they bank. Still others buy bonds at their banks and post offices."

State Has Larger Share Of National Wealth Than In 1940

Florida's share of the national wealth has been increasing since 1940, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce reported yesterday.

Measurement of the expansion and extension of the economy of Florida is revealed by the use of the State's percentage of national totals.

Florida's portion of such gauges of wealth as income, bank resources, savings, life insurance etc., does not vary far from one percent. Yet even one-tenth of one percent, when expressed in dollars, results in added millions.

This week's business review of the State Chamber's research and industrial division lists Florida's shares as follows: The first figure in each case is for 1940 and the second for 1949 or 1948 in a few instances.

Total income of individuals 1.18 and 1.34; gross cash farm income 1.37 and 1.45; long-term savings 1.22 and 1.07; bank resources .62 and 1.00; value of new construction 2.67 and 3.32 and gross postal receipts 1.22 and 1.43. Other items expressed in volume instead of value are number of business concerns 1.49 and 1.71; electric power production 30 and 1.23; passenger car registrations 1.51 and 1.85 and population 1.44 and 1.67.

CENSUS TOOL OF PUBLIC AND PRIVATE INDUSTRY

For 10 years, since the last United States Census in 1940, the users of statistical information about the Nation's population and its characteristics have been using a tool widely called the "Census of the Nation's Industry." It is a tool that has passed along its way into the hands of many business and governmental surveys during the years of World War II and since, statistical studies of necessity had to be tied back to the year 1940.

In April, 1950, the Bureau of the Census will conduct the 17th Decennial Census of the United States. About 140,000 enumerators will list selected facts concerning some 150 million persons as they visit an estimated 45 million persons or households, including more than six million farms.

For the next 10 years, the Statistical information compiled in the 1950 Census will serve as a basis for important decisions. The apportionment among the States of representation in Congress will be determined thereby. Studies guiding private industry in business decisions will rest on the new Census foundation. Public planning and distribution and of public services will be governed for a decade by the 1950 enumeration. Any survey made to obtain current information between censuses will necessitate the use of last census as a point of reference.

To anticipate the future, it is necessary to know the past. Users of statistics know that they must be accurate. It is incumbent upon every individual to do his part to attain such a goal.

Errors Of Social Security Records Cause Extra Burden

"Investigation of 328 Social Security number errors on Social Security reports filed by employers of this area consumed part of the time of two employees in his office during March, R. C. Gehlken, Jr., Manager of the Social Security office said this week.

Over and above the time spent in the local office, each investigation places additional burdens on the bookkeeping department of the Social Security Administration and the employers involved. In most cases time spent in correcting these errors exceeds the time spent in preparing the original report.

Mr. Gehlken said that although these errors fall into two classes, the same remedy will cure both. "If an employer will insist on actually seeing the Social Security card as soon as a new employee goes to work, he is certain, first, of getting the correct Social Security number."

"Social Security payments," Gehlken continued, "are based on the worker having credit for at least $50.00 in wages in a specified number of reporting periods. Therefore, the decision to pay or not to pay social security benefits can, and sometimes does, hinge upon whether a worker finally got credit for a relatively small amount of wages which were reported incorrectly by his employer. By the same token, benefit checks are smaller when some wages are not posted to the worker's account."

Mr. Gehlken pointed out that while most employers are making proper reports, the relatively few who turn in incorrect or incomplete reports are endangering the social security protection for which they and their employees have paid.

CHILD CITY MODEL
via. The school itself consists of approximately 150 individual homes situated on the grounds of the Child City, covering over 1300 acres.

It is unlike any other child welfare institution inasmuch as it is laid out in the form of a city with eight miles of paved roadways and not more than 18 boys or girls are housed in any one home. The mothers of the children have the privilege of coming to Moosehart with their families and are employed in various capacities in the maintenance of the school and home.

The miniature model of the Child City was built and executed by a former Moosehart student who is well-versed in the history of this famous institution. The miniature model, which cost $25,000.00 and required two years to build, is adfounded by 21 large translucent pictures of children's activities on the grounds of Moosehart. All of the translucent are in full Kodachrome color.

The majority of the building, which are, of course, in scale model, are electrically lighted from the interior. A well-known radio commentator has produced a recording giving minute description of the Child City and as his story unfolds the lights on the grounds of the miniature city are turned on and off in order that the onlooker may make a mythical tour of these enlightening grounds.

The Child City of Moosehart is maintained and operated by the Loyal Order of Moose. Admission is free and the public is invited to see this beautiful marvel of handicraft of the famous miniature city.

Safe Stairs

So many of the falls which cause serious injuries in the home occur on steps or stairs that families may well give more attention to safe building and upkeep of stairways, housing specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture suggest.

Stairs often are badly steep to save space. This is dangerous economy, especially for a child using stairway. The treads of steps should be deep enough to hold the weight of the foot securely, and the risers just high enough for comfortable stepping. Treads 10 inches deep, with risers 7 one-half inches high are recommended. At most, these 7 one-half inches will be no steeper than 30 to 35 degrees. Where space is at a premium, a pull-down ladder from the attic may be safer than steep stairs. To protect heads allow space of at least 7 feet from stairs to ceiling above.

Psychology plays a part in building safe stairs. Because most people go up and down by habit, rather than conscious thought—and at a regular pace, stairs need to be uniform. Any off-measurement steps interrupt the even pace and may cause falls. Spiral staircases are hazardous because treads are tapered to the turn. Safer are two straight runs of stairs set at right angles with a square landing between.

Every stairway needs a hand-rail, low enough for children. Steep stairways need handrails on both sides.

Clear lighting is essential to the full length of the stairway, also on doorsteps and porches. A good light and a two-way switch at both top and bottom of stairs are recommended. Cellar steps often are dangerously dark. Until good lighting is installed, it helps to paint stairs white. A flashlight kept in the hall is a good safety measure. To avoid slips, skirts and trips, use wax very sparingly on stairs and avoid loose scotch rugs at top or bottom of stairs. Carpeting should be fastened firmly on each step and kept in good repair so it will not catch heels. Loose boards or nails in steps and stairs have caused many a fall. Another common fall hazard is clutter on stairs—toys, boxes, and trash.

Finally, the specialists urge going slowly and easy up and down stairs, and never carrying loads so large that you can't see where you're stepping.

This Week's Sermonette Is Written By Dr. R. F. Halford, Pastor of the South Bay Baptist Church.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

This life is suggested by the words of Jesus in John 10:10: "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." The abundant life which is provided, promised and offered by Him consists of three parts or elements:

First, there is Inflow or Reception. Quite obviously, one cannot have life without receiving it, and the Saviour is the One Who gives it to those who are willing to receive it. His Word says: "As many as received Him, in them He gave the right to become the children of God, even to them that believed on His Name" (John 1:12). When the sinner repents of his sin and opens his heart, by faith, to the Lord Jesus Christ, He thereby receives the life which is in Him. Make sure of this, dear reader, because it is primary, both in importance and point of time.

Second, it involves Overflow, or Abundance. There is nothing stingy or limited about the life which Jesus gives to those who trust in Him. Its size, importance and enjoyment are immeasurable. Ask anyone who has experienced the saving, keeping, satisfying power of Jesus Christ, and see if his testimony is not the same as that of David: "My cup runneth over." (Psa. 23:5).

Third, it provides Outflow or Sharing. As there is nothing stingy about His giving of this life to us, neither should there be any selfishness on our part in sharing it with others. Our Saviour exhorts us: "Freely ye have received, freely give." (Matt. 10:8b). There is no place in Christian experience for selfishness, selfishness is negligence to share our Saviour. The Dead Sea is a good illustration of what happens when there is always reception but no sharing. Those who have truly received the Saviour are never satisfied unless they can share Him with others. Their expression is: "We cannot but speak the things which he have seen and heard." (Acts 4:20).

Friend, have you received the Abundant Life? If so, let it overflow your life and outflow into the lives of others. If not, let me urge that you receive Him in Whom the life is, and then it will be yours!

Next Week's Sermonette Will Be Submitted By Rev. Slade, Pastor Of The Church Of Jesus Christ Of Latter Day Saints, South Bay.

"I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the house of the Lord."—Psalms 122-1.
